How do I follow Jesus' Mission to love one another

Loving other people doesn't require time, talent, or money. We as people are called to love everybody no matter if they are white, black, Asian, Latino, sinners, or people who have different beliefs from ours. Jesus Christ, the Son of the one true God ate with sinners and tax collectors. Jesus loved everyone, no matter who they were or what they believed in. In the Bible, it tells us that Jesus told his Apostles that there were two commandments:. The first is to love the Lord your God with all your soul, with all your heart, and with all your mind, and love your neighbor as yourself. The second of Jesus' two great commandments is hard for most people to do, but it shouldn't be. Today in our world, people are not being loved. Many people today are not being respected as children of God. Jesus calls us to love and respect everyone, no matter who they are or what their beliefs are. In recent news, our Muslim brothers and sisters have not been shown love with the recent travel ban. People who only love God and not others are not truly loving God. We as humans are created in God's image, so when we discriminate, kill, and disrespect others, we do those things to God. 1 John 4:8 tells us "Whoever does not love does not know God, because God is love." Out of pure human dignity, we must respect others, because Scripture tells us to love others as we wish to be loved. When we put ourselves in others' shoes, and experience the hatred that they are facing, we come to realize ourselves. It is in respecting others that we can truly love God. Whenever you look into the eyes of a Jew, into the eyes of a Muslim, into the eyes of a Christian, into the eyes of a black man, into the eyes of a Latino, into the eyes of someone who is different from us, we see how we are all the same through God. We are all God's children, no matter what. Jesus loved us so much that he died on a cross for us. Jesus died for us so that we may live in eternal happiness with God and all his children. God created us in order to establish peace and unity, not division. It is love that unites the world, respecting all of God's children is much needed in our society today. No person is ugly, no one is evil, no one is to be judged and ignored because of who they are. Jesus's message to the world was a message of love, and we as human beings are called to spread His love to every corner of the Earth. We must love everyone, because through doing this we are loving Jesus, who loved us so much that he died for us. Who are we to look at God's children, and not show them the love that God calls us to show?
